

House Beautiful Article: Exotic Hues

In the December 2014 issue of House Beautiful, we talk exotic paint colors – St. Bart’s SW7614 from Sherman-Williams to be exact. “The touch of gray in this deep, hazy blue hints at clouds on the horizon – clouds that the captain of a tall ship would have welcomed, knowing that soon the trade winds would provide passage through the tropics. I’d use it in a small, cozy library, with lots of white trim. Or it would make a standout piece of painted furniture.” -Pamela O’Brien

PAINT

Exotic Hues

Some colors have the power to transport you to another place, another time...

DEEP SAXE BLUE BS113
FINE PAINTS OF EUROPE

"You'll see this shade of Prussian blue in butterflies, Orientalist paintings, or Turkish robes, and the way we used it in this dining room—with canary yellow and coral—feels very exotic. The lacquer finish changes the color and gives it body and depth. It glistens. The atmosphere is luxurious and rich, like a sultan's palace."

ALEX PAPACHRISTIDIS

+ TAP TO SEE A FULL-SCREEN VIEW OF THIS COLOR

TAP FOR CREDITS

TAP A COLOR FOR DETAILS

